

ALL MINERS.

C. M. FUNSTON, Editor.

KINGMAN, AUGUST 4, 1888.

Phoenix has a Bandana Club, with one hundred members.

President Cleveland has returned to Washington from his fishing expedition on Long Island.

Robert Morris, the most distinguished Mason in the world, died at Louisville, Ky., recently. He was poet laureate of the order.

The Senate last week confirmed the nomination of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

The Globe Belt says: We learn from what we regard a reliable source that the Territorial Democratic Convention will be held in Tucson during the early part of September.

The firm of W. T. Coleman & Co., of San Francisco, now offer to compromise with their creditors for forty cents on the dollar. If this can be done it is said that the firm can resume business again.

The railroads are catching it on all sides. Commissioner Stockholder is now inquiring of the Atlantic & Pacific road why some 90,000 acres of land wrongfully patented to that corporation should not be restored to the Government. Legal proceedings within thirty days are threatened.—Albuquerque Citizen.

The Postmaster-General has issued a circular letter instructing postmasters that under the provisions of the post office appropriation bill recently passed by Congress postage on seeds, bulbs and plants be charged at the rate of one cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. The former rate was one cent an ounce.

The newspapers of Phoenix state that their charges for publishing announcements of candidates are as follows: Offices of Sheriff, Recorder, Treasurer, District Attorney or Assessor, $30; Probate Judge, Councilman or Joint Councilman, $20; all other county and legislative offices, $15.00; precinct offices, $10. These rates are pretty high, but the Phoenix papers state that candidates are numerous and the offices worth looking after.

It is reported that the Democratic Territorial Convention will be held at Flagstaff the latter part of this month. If the convention is held there Mark A. Smith will not be the nominee for Delegate to Congress, but District Attorney Herndon, of Yavapai county, will probably receive the nomination. J. C. Herndon is an able man and would represent the Territory with more ability than has been shown by any Delegate for several years past.

Mr. J. McMillan, the Secretary of the Arizona Industrial Exposition, says that the prospects for a successful exhibition are very flattering. The number of entries are larger than ever before and a large number of visitors from the Eastern States are expected to visit that place during the week of the Exposition. The Mirror is gratified to learn of the bright prospects of the Exposition, as it is an institution of great value to the Territory at large, and especially so to Phoenix and the Salt River Valley.

The Indian trouble at San Carlos originated among themselves over some gambling debts, and part of the bands of Casidore and Chilchuana have gone to the mountains and defy arrest. These are the worst characters on the reservation and it is believed that a general outbreak is imminent. No serious consequences are feared by the citizens, for little or no harm can be done, as General Miles has the troops of the Department so well disciplined for active service that the renegades could not get far from the reservation before being captured or destroyed.

The new and exceedingly rich strike made on the Copper mine this week is attracting a good deal of attention among miners. It has been taken for granted that the Copper had been worked out and the mine was abandoned last year, but J. K. MacKenzie, the former Superintendent, recently concluded to prospect the old workings again, with the result of finding the largest body of ore yet found in this mine. It is probable that like results would be found in other mines in this county, which are now called by many "worked out mines," if the proper amount of work was done on them. A number of these mines, since the first of the year, have again been made producers by the owners leasing them to competent miners, a thing which they have heretofore been averse to doing. It would seem from the experience of the year that it is exceedingly doubtful if a Mohave county mine can be "worked out."

Judge Barnes, in the Circuit Court of Cochise county last week, had S. C. Bagg, the editor of the Tombstone Prospector, before him for contempt of Court. The Judge sentenced the "moulder of public opinion" to pay a fine of three hundred dollars or spend three hundred days in jail, and Mr. Bagg, like the majority of Arizona editors, did not have that amount of money and was compelled to go to jail. After spending three days in jail and failing to obtain a release or a writ of habeas corpus, the friends of Mr. Bagg raised the amount of the fine by voluntary subscription, no single subscription exceeding five dollars. The money was paid to the Sheriff and the editor who dared to question an opinion of Judge Barnes was released. From what can be gathered from the reports of this affair Judge Barnes allowed his feelings to get the better of his judgment, and his act in imposing an unjust fine for so trivial a cause will be widely commented upon and justly condemned.

A Lodge of the Order of the Eastern Star will soon be organized in Flagstaff.

Near Tempe last week a little child of Geo. Nichols was drowned by falling in a ditch.

The Laguna, eight miles from town, is dry for the first time in twenty years.—Yuma Sentinel.

The new Gila county Court House will be ready for occupation by the county officers about the middle of August.

Phoenix papers say that many horses in the Salt River valley are afflicted with an unknown disease. Several farmers have lost valuable animals.

On Thursday last about noon as Valentine Eichel, a miner, was ascending the ladder in the Topex mine he lost his footing and fell to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 50 or 60 feet, causing almost instant death.—Tombstone Epitaph.

The Board of Supervisors of Yuma county, at their meeting last week, fixed the salaries of officers for the next two years as follows: Sheriff and Tax Collector, $500; Probate Judge, $400; Assessor, $500. The office of Assessor was made an elective one.

The Board of Supervisors of Apache county have under the Code ordered that the salaries of the officers beginning Jan. 1, 1889, be as follows: Probate Judge, $400 and fees; Sheriff, $400 and fees; Treasurer and Tax Collector, $2,000, no fees; Recorder, fees only; Clerk of the District Court, fees; Assessor, $400 and fees.

John S. Levery was lodged in the county jail yesterday by Constable Donahue, of Flagstaff, to await the action of the Grand Jury on a charge of defrauding the Atlantic & Pacific Railroad Company. Levery was a section boss and is charged with carrying false names on the pay roll and drawing monthly pay accounts on them.—Journal-Miner.

A Tucson dispatch says: Sheriff Shaw and Will Smith brought in three Papago Indians to-day from their village near the Sonora line, who killed D. D. Ford, a prospector, two months ago near Humboldt camp. They confessed the crime, stating that they killed him to get his provisions. The murderers are two Indian boys 16 years of age. They shot him in the stomach and buried him.

The Yuma Sentinel says that Southern Arizona promises to become a heavy producer of opium. The poppy grows very luxuriantly and readily in Yuma county, the plants growing much larger than anywhere else in the United States. The cultivation of the poppy is simple and returns immense. Sixteen plants will produce an ounce of opium and an acre should give a profit of at least a thousand dollars.

The "Fat Boy" of the Maricopa Indian tribe is in town, and is attracting considerable attention. He is but 14 years of age, stands 5 feet 3 inches high, and weighs 185 pounds. His chest measurement is 61 inches. The young Indian appreciates that he is a curiosity and will not permit himself to be weighed until money is given him. He would prove a great card in a dime museum.—Phoenix Arizona.

Richard Hamilton, of the Verde Valley, met with a serious accident last night. He was stopping at the Waldo House, and the night being warm he conceived the brilliant idea of sleeping on the roof of the porch. He did not sleep long, however, as he rolled off to the sidewalk below, a distance of twelve feet, lighting on his arms, breaking both of them. He is now under physicians' care, and will be laid up for several weeks.—Journal-Miner.

Word was brought to the Sheriff's office to-day that an old prospector by the name of D. D. Ford had been robbed and murdered by the Papago near Quilman's ranch, on the Quijota road. Ford has been missing for two months, but he was thought to be prospecting in the mountains till a few days since, when one of the Indians disclosed the murder and offered to escort a party to where the killing was done. Sheriff Shaw and posse left for the scene of murder to-day. They will bring in all parties implicated in the deed.—Tucson Citizen.

The Silver Belt learns from a reliable source that the affairs of the Silver King Mining Company are in a serious plight. The Company's checks were allowed to go to protest for two successive months, and an arrangement was finally effected whereby the Bank of California takes up the King Company's paper and issues their own notes, payable several months hence. An assessment, the first, has been levied upon the stock, and shares have declined to $1. The Silver King mine is famous, having paid sixty-nine dividends, aggregating $2,000,000.

Eight years ago all the fruit and vegetables consumed in Tucson were brought from foreign markets. Now nearly one-half of the consumption is purchased in the Territory and a large percentage is raised in the vicinity of Tucson, and it is a fact worthy of notice that the best quality of fruit and vegetables are produced in this immediate vicinity, which goes to show that with a little energy the entire consumption of garden truck, fruit and other agricultural products can be produced at home and thus can be retained in circulation the capital which is now sent to California for these products.—Star.

Just off the military reservation of Fort Huachuca is a dance house kept by one Jesse Allen, patronized principally by soldiers. On Tuesday a sergeant was detailed to go there and arrest all soldiers away from the fort without passes. As he approached the house he was fired upon and compelled to beat a retreat. The next night several soldiers walked into the place, ordered out the males and females, and set the place on fire, totally destroying house and contents. Warrants were sworn out in Justice Shearer's court for the arrest of Richard Hardwick, Hemken, Taylor, Thornton, Tony and Calligan, all soldiers, charging them with arson.

AN ARIZONA BLUFFER.

A Phoenix Ranchman Anxious to Back the Democratic Ticket.

A Washington dispatch says: Senator Bowen, of Colorado, was reported a short time ago as willing and anxious to wager $10,000 on the success of the Republican National ticket. The story to that effect got into print and Mr. Bowen has just heard from it in the shape of a letter from an Arizona ranchman. He writes that he is an enthusiastic admirer of Cleveland and is willing to stake his wealth against the Colorado Senator's on the result of the election. His proposition is to bet his ranch of several thousand acres, which lies in a valley near Phoenix, against Mr. Bowen's $10,000. The ranch, it is stated, is well stocked with cattle, horses and mules, and is valued at $25,000. The Senator feels, of course, highly complimented by the flattering character of the sportsman's offer, but will decline. Mr. Bowen says that while he feels fully $10,000 worth of confidence in the success of Harrison and Morton, the statement that he offered to bet that amount or any amount on the result of the election is highly imaginative. He will, however, refer the Arizona ranchman's letter to some sporting friend who may have a desire to plunge on election results.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.)
WASHINGTON, July 23, 1888.
Some what of a sensation was caused here by the publication of a story that Mr. Brice, the newly selected Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, had been telling tales out of school. The story goes that Mr. Brice was very indignant when he found out that he was only expected to be a figure head, and that the real management of the campaign would be in the hands of Mr. Cleveland. Senator Hanson, a member of the committee, and Col. Bright, of Indiana, Sergeant-at-Arms of the committee, both use strong language in denying the story, but there was plenty of Democrats who believed it and are glad to think that the campaign is to be managed by Mr. Cleveland, with the aid of Mr. Lamont; the political sagacity of both these gentlemen having been fully proven, while that of Mr. Brice is an unknown quantity.

The Mills tariff bill passed the House by a vote of 102 to 149. Four Democrats voted against the bill and two Republicans for it, which shows that the party whip was sharply cracked over the members of both parties. The galleries were crowded to witness the final vote on the bill, which has consumed so much time in its discussion and space in the newspapers. Among the distinguished people in the reserved gallery were Mrs. Cleveland and her mother, Mrs. Folson. Now that it has gone through the House, it goes over to the Senate, where we shall get another deluge of tariff talk, which will be ended about September by the Senate's passing a substitute for the bill, the appointment of conference committees, failure to agree, and final appeal to the people to decide which party is right. In view of the long discussion in Congress, and the immense amount of space filled in the newspapers with arguments on this important subject, to say nothing of the tons of speeches in pamphlet form with which both parties are deluging the country, neither party can say that the voters are not fully informed. If the average voter is anything like the newspaper men in this city, he will never want to hear the word "tariff" again after this campaign.

The fisheries treaty was up several times last week in the Senate, but little progress was made. It is understood that an attempt will be made to bring it to a vote this week.

A bill to pay the depositors in the bankrupt Freedman's Bank has been passed by the Senate.

Mrs. Cleveland was twenty-four years old Saturday, the 21st inst.

Mr. Randall, who is still confined to his bed, was paired on the Mills tariff bill, but gave notice by letter that he had been present he would have voted against it.

The manufacturers of compound lard have gotten a respite. The House Committee on Agriculture has postponed until next December the further consideration of the several bills to regulate the manufacture of compound lard.

The House Committee on the library have reported favorably the Senate bill authorizing the erection of a monument to Gen. Joseph Warren, who was killed at the battle of Bunker Hill. This government is sometimes a little slow in showing its appreciation of patriotism and bravery, but like the bug without wings, it always "gets there."

The House has passed the River and Harbor bill, the Senate having agreed to drop the objectionable items. The bill is now in the hands of Mr. Cleveland, and the question that is worrying the parties interested is, will he sign it?

The Senate bill appropriating $250,000 for the aid of State homes for disabled veterans has been passed by the House and is now in the hands of the President. During the debate Mr. Kilgore, of Texas, who was opposed to the bill, made a bad break by referring to the disabled soldiers as paupers. Mr. Spinoia, of New York, immediately "hurled the assertion back into the throat from which it emanated."

Inherited Diseases.

No fact of nature is more pregnant with awful meaning than the fact of the inheritance of disease. Modern science, which has illuminated so many dark corners of nature, has shed a new light on the ominous words of the Scriptures: "The sins of the fathers, shall be visited upon the children unto the third and fourth generation." Fifty per cent of cases of consumption, cancer and scrofula, run in families through inheritance. Insanity is hereditary in a marked degree, but, fortunately, like many other hereditary diseases, tends to wear itself out, the stock becoming extinct. A distinguished scientist truly says: "No organ or texture of the body is exempt from the chance of being the subject of hereditary disease." Probably more chronic diseases, which permanently modify the structure and functions of the body, are more or less liable to be inherited. The important and far-reaching practical deductions from such facts are obvious to reflecting minds, and the best means for preventing or curing these diseases is a subject of intense interest to all. Fortunately nature has provided a remedy, which experience has attested as infallible, and the remedy is the world-famous Scott's Emulsion, a pure vegetable compound—nature's antidote for all blood poisons. To be afflicted with a blood disease is to have a "Blood and Skin Disease" will be made plain by addressing

Registration of Electors.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF MOHAVE COUNTY, ARIZONA.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of Mohave county, Arizona, did on the 3rd day of July, 1888, adopt the following order:
On motion it was ordered that a new registration of the voters of Mohave county be made for the ensuing election (1888), and all voters are required to re-register, such registration being deemed necessary by the Board of Supervisors. Voting days, Messrs. Cronier and Johnson. And the Clerk is directed to publish this order in the official paper of the county, in the manner and for the time required by law.
By order of the Board of Supervisors.
JAMES J. HYDE,
Clerk.

Notice of Forfeiture.

To Guy W. McGriff:
You are hereby notified that I have expended one hundred dollars in labor and improvements upon the Deputy mining claim, situated in the Lost Basin Mining District, Mohave county, Arizona Territory, and duly recorded in Book 1, pages 101 and 102, Mohave county Mining Records. In order to hold said premises under the provisions of Section 2324, Revised Statutes of the United States, being the amount required to hold the same for the year ending December 31st, 1887.
And you are further notified that the proportion of said expenditures due from you is $12.50, lawful money of the United States, and if within 30 days after the publication of this notice you fail or refuse to contribute your proportion of such expenditures as co-owner, your interest in said claim will become the property of the undersigned, under said section 2324.
